The GaragePoxy Difference

There is a very big difference between other Epoxies and MARTENS GaragePoxy floors. ## STEP 1 - Preparing the Concrete Floor

Shot Blasting

For a long lasting installation a clean floor is very important. Our automated shot blaster removes all dirt and chemical residue right down to bare concrete.

Edge Grinding

We follow up with an edge grinder, making sure the epoxy coating will bond right up to the edge of your floor.

STEP 2 - Filling Pits, Cracks and Leveling

leveling the Floor

Some floors may have major surface damage spots that require repair and leveling. We use a high tech cementitious composite epoxy, resulting in a very strong repair, stronger than the original concrete.

Filling Seams and Cracks

Most concrete floors have cracks and pits from years of wear and salt erosion. We fill them with a thick coat of epoxy to eliminated these unsightly imperfections.

STEP 3 - Sealing With a Primer Coat

A Primer is Used for Sealing and Bonding

After checking for vapor and moisture transmission, a primer sealer coat is applied. This coat prevents vapor transmission and provides a better bond for the color coat.

We Cover Every Square Inch

We don't take short cuts and we pay attention to detail. Every square inch of your floor is covered with the sealer primer, even the hard to get to spots.

STEP 4 - Color Coat and Color Flakes

The Color Coat is Rolled On.

Unlike other epoxies, GaragePoxy color coat is a thick layer with 100% epoxy solids. There are many standard colors to choose from including custom colors.

Spreading Color Flakes

For assured adhesion, quartz aggregate or color flakes are added while the color coat is still wet. The flakes provide that desired textured look. Flakes are available in many textures and colors.

Many Colors and Options to Choose From

Do-it-yourself epoxy kits sold in stores only offer a choice of two or three colors.

With Martens GaragePoxy there is a wide range of solid or textured colors to choose from, even custom color blends and luminescent colors. The color possibilities are endless.

Customize Your Floor With a Graphic

As an option, we can personalize your garage floor with a custom graphic. It can be your favorite team or car logo or any other graphic you choose.

The graphic is embedded in the epoxy coating and protected with a durable, transparent top coat.
